CFG Annual Conference – Inspiring Financial Leadership

17 May 2012 – Queen Elizabeth II Conference Centre, SW1P 3EE

We are pleased to announce the 2012 Annual Conference.

This year's conference will open with an insight from a true financial leader - a man who made the transition, so often seen in the private sector but less frequently present with charities, from FD to CEO. Mark Watts, RSPCA will help us reflect on how far the modern finance professional has come and the qualities we now see.

Andrew Sentence CBE, from PwC will give his thoughts on the economic outlook for the sector.

Closing the day Andrew Hind CB, Editor of Charity Finance, founding member of CFG and former CEO of the Charity Commission will look at the last 25 years in the sector with a forward glance to what the future holds for us all.

Once again we have put together a varied programme with a blend of technical updates, thought provoking debate, networking opportunities and time to explore a 40-strong marketplace of suppliers and services. As usual there are five seminar streams offering something for everyone - interspersed with three stimulating, challenging and engaging plenary sessions and, new this year, a whole session of workshops to help you interactively get under the skin of your chosen topic.

The Conference gives you access to more than 40 professional firms in the exhibition area, providing a wealth of experience for you to draw on during the day and discuss current issues and organisational needs. The structure of the programme also ensures there is ample time for networking and sharing experiences with your fellow professionals during the day, and at the drinks reception at the close of Conference.

Attendance at the Conference has increased year on year – book early to ensure your place is reserved.

We are delighted to offer an early bird booking discount for all CFG members and their colleagues – go to the link below for full details.
